City launches Wal-Mart store campaign

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — "If everyone who ever came to me saying we need a Wal-Mart in Granite City shows up at our meeting Monday night, we'll have a big crowd," Mayor Von Dee Cruse said.

What may become a community effort to attract a Wal-Mart store to downtown Granite City was set in motion at what was intended to be a special meeting of the City Council on Tuesday.

The session turned into a special meeting of the Downtown Committee when only six aldermen and Cruse attended, but then it turned back into a special meeting when a seventh alderman showed up.

A town-style meeting is scheduled at the Granite

City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave., at 7 p.m. June 6 to decide on a plan of action.

Second Ward Alderman Jim Miller, chairman of the committee, told the aldermen that a visit to Granite City by Wal-Mart representatives had been scheduled for last week, but had not taken place.

"We have an advisory from our developer, Eisenberg, that we are now on a priority review and will be visited sometime in the next 35 to 40 days," Miller said. "Now it's time to do our homework. It's no secret that Wal-Mart is sensitive to public opinion."

The downtown committee has decided that some type of letter campaign is needed, Miller said. A local business has agreed to pay the postage on all the letters submitted. Miller hopes the campaign will exceed 15,000 letters.

"We have some things happening; we have some things to do. I think this can be an exciting 35 to 40 days," Miller said.

The members of the Downtown Committee — Miller, 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney and 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen — are frequent opponents in council debate.

"If we can agree on something, I think you can be assured the best interests of the city are being served," Miller said.

Cruse said he wants the Wal-Mart campaign to be an "all out effort" and echoed Miller's feeling about an exciting time.

"I want us to create something big, something that will get us national attention," Cruse said. "We need to make something happen in our town that will get media attention."

"We're going to get a letter printed, but the letter has to be from a real guy, a home-type guy, saying how much he would appreciate a Wal-Mart in our community."

Monday's meeting will be for ideas and volunteers, Miller said.

"We want to fill up the town hall," he said. "There are approximately 300 blocks in Granite City. If we get 300 people, that's one block each. If we get 150, it's two blocks. This is not something that is impossible to do."

In addition to Cruse, Miller and Partney, Tuesday's meeting was attended by 1st Ward Alderman Everett Morlen, 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Fisk, 4th Ward Alderman Sharon Perjak, 5th Ward Alderman Ralph Astorian and 6th Ward Alderman Walter Milton.

Patrolman suspended

GRANITE CITY — A Granite City policeman who is alleged to have been a "Peeping Tom" while on duty and in uniform at 4:50 a.m. May 15 — faces a criminal charge and has been suspended without pay for 30 days.

Patrolman Scott Jenkins, 26, was named in a state warrant by the Madison County Circuit Court on Wednesday morning, charging him with official misconduct. A policeman for three years, he turned himself in at Edwardsville and was later released.

Identification made in truck stop death

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

MADISON — Part of the puzzle is solved.

Police have identified the man found dead May 19 in the bloody cab of a truck from California parked at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza on Illinois 203.

Fingerprints taken from the body were matched Tuesday at the Illinois State Police Crime Laboratory in Fairview Heights with those of the holder of a California driver license found in the truck.

The man was identified as Sylvester Jackson Jr., 45, Moreno Valley, Calif., driver for Douglas Trucking Co. of Rialto, Calif.

The height listed on his license was 2 inches less than his real height. Also, Jackson's license photograph was taken with him wearing a large hat and sunglasses, which further complicated his identification.

Police are treating the case as a homicide, but the cause of death is unknown.

A considerable amount of blood was found in the cab, and a deep laceration was on Jackson's forearm. But it is not certain if the cut caused his death.

State drops police test cheating charges, promises further action in several weeks

GRANITE CITY — Indictments charging official misconduct by two Granite City policemen and a former president of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners have been, or soon will be, withdrawn, Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen said Wednesday.

Allen said he expected to obtain information (charges similar to indictments, but issued by a judge) on the same charges in "a couple of weeks."

A grand jury in January indicted Dan Partney — a former Fire and Police commissioner and now an alderman — and Granite City policemen Dave Rosenberg and Jim Reader, alleging they cheated on an examination for sergeant in 1985.

Reader and Rosenberg had the highest scores in the nation on the test and both were promoted to sergeant based, in part, on

Man charged with shotgun murder

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

MADISON — Michael Terry McDonald, 36, has been arrested and charged with murder in the shotgun death Tuesday of his estranged wife, Sandra Sue McDonald.

Madison police received an anonymous telephone call at 2:23 a.m. informing them of the shooting, and McDonald was arrested four minutes later.

He was taken into custody outside a two-story apartment building at 1331 Madison Ave., where his wife lived in an apartment on the second floor. Sue McDonald, 37, was still alive when authorities arrived, and was rushed to the St. Elizabeth Medical Center Emergency Room, where she was pronounced dead at 4:12 a.m. She had suffered a shotgun wound to the chest.

Michael McDonald was booked by police at 2:55 a.m. Bond was set Tuesday at $500,000 by Circuit Judge Charles Romant and McDonald remains in custody, declining to make a statement to police.

He was arraigned Wednesday afternoon in Granite City before Associate Judge Wendell Durr and formally charged with two counts of first-degree murder.

McDonald, who said he is unemployed, pleaded not guilty and a public defender

Sue McDonald

was appointed to represent him. Bond was continued at $500,000.

Sue McDonald's sister-in-law, Linda Smith, said she had heard that Sue had ordered Michael McDonald to move out of their apartment last week.

Police said he apparently attempted to shoot his way into the victim's three-room apartment, using a single-barrel automatic shotgun. A hole about three inches wide was found in a door underneath the doorknob. McDonald then forced his way into the apartment, officers believe.

It is not yet clear whether the victim was in the apartment at the time injury was gained or whether she arrived some time later, police said.

Michael McDonald, who was known by the nickname "Squeak," was on one year of probation at the time of the shooting. The probation stemmed from a circuit court conviction in September for home disturbance and other misdemeanors, records show.

A Madison County probation officer described McDonald as "an alcoholic" and "a very volatile dude."

But the officer said he was surprised by the news of the alleged homicide because it had been his impression that the McDonalds were "very close."

As a condition of his probation, McDonald was enrolled in a drug/alcohol counseling program called "Treatment Alternatives to Street Crime (TASC)." A petition was filed with the court May 12 to revoke his probation for failure to attend the program, but a hearing had not yet been held.

McDonald was not tested for alcohol at the time of his arrest. He was arrested and charged with assault earlier this year for allegedly stabbing a man in Granite City, but the charges were later dropped when the alleged victim refused to testify.

MURDER SUSPECT Michael McDonald is led from the Madison Police Station on Wednesday.

Library to hold sale

The annual Granite City Public Library book sale will be held this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The event is sponsored by the Friends of the Library, dedicated to promoting the library through public awareness, fund-raising and volunteer assistance.

"We're going to sell everything," said Joan Roberts, president of the Friends group. Hardback and paperback fiction and non-fiction books will be available, as well as children's books and magazines. All books will cost a quarter.

The event will begin with a special preview and sale from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. Friday. A $1 admission will be charged Friday only. Members of the Friends group will be admitted free.

The sale will continue from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and noon to 3 p.m. Sunday. On both days the public will be admitted free.

Officials said the library has recently sorted its collection, making an unusually large number of books available for this year's sale.

The group will also conduct a raffle for a copy of the "Chronicles of the 20th Century," edited by Clifton Daniel and selected as book of the year by the American Bookellers. Tickets will be a quarter. The drawing will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Those who wish to donate books, magazines or records to the sale may do so from 10 a.m. to noon Friday at the ice rink. Membership applications for the Friends of the Library will be available at the sale. Dues are $3 annually for individuals.

Mission Friends marks 100 years

The Mission Friends celebrated a "Centennial" birthday party at Emmanuel Baptist Church, Granite City.

The organization for preschoolers began as the Sunbeam Band in 1888 and became Mission Friends in 1970. Mission Friends leader Kathy Sargent planned the party.

Special guests were Sandra McMasters, Women Missionary Union director at Emmanuel; Jean Corzine, Madison Association Women Missionary Union director; and Betty Lewis, Madison Association Mission Friends director.

Games of "Walk in a Circle," "fish pond" and a "bean bag toss" were played by the Mission Friends. Lewis gave a talk about "Cousin George," alias, Dr. George Braxton-Taylor, founder of Sunbeams in 1886, and Anna Elsom, teacher of the first Sunbeam class.

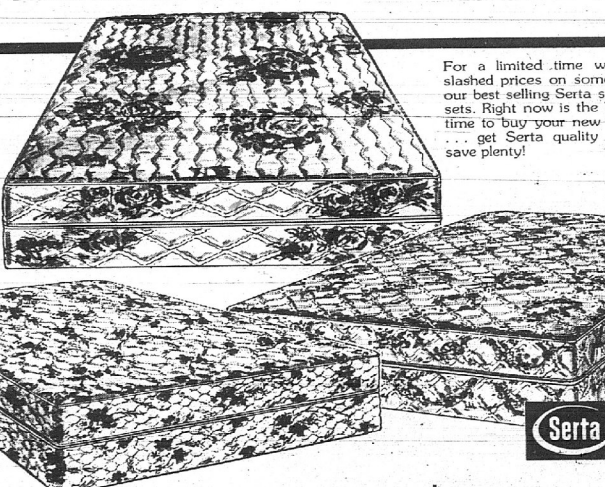

A table with memorabilia of items used in 1886 and items used now was on display.

Also attending the event were: Mr. and Mrs. Chip Evans and children Keltie and Steven; Rosemary Causey and son, James; and Katie Gabby.

Refreshments were served, and a door prize was presented to Betty Lewis.

A PAIR IN A TREE: Not far from their nest, black-crowned night herons keep watch high above the floor of the rookery on Morrison Road in Pontoon Beach. The Horseshoe Lake.

HIGH OVERHEAD: A brilliant white egret, silhouetted by the sun, flies gracefully over the Morrison Road rookery. Large numbers of egrets have again returned to the tranquil grove of tall trees near Long Lake. The trees and their proximity to the lake make the area ideal for breeding and feeding.

Long Lake area is one of only a few known breeding areas in the state; the rookery is shared by a number of white egrets.

Egrets

The birds of Long Lake

By Maxine Dunlaph
Correspondent

A sight of interest to bird watchers or anyone interested in wildlife preservation is the mixed colony of egrets and black-crowned night herons that once again have returned to the rookery along Morrison Road, near Long Lake, to breed and raise their young.

The thicket of tall, slender trees growing next to a wheat field provides an ideal breeding and feeding area.

Both the egret and the heron feed on fish but will also eat small snakes, frogs and mice. The egret will sometimes follow farmers' plows to retrieve the grubs and insects unearthed.

The publication "Great American Wild Life" states that the cattle egret originally could be found only in the Old World.

It is unknown how the species crossed the Atlantic, whether it was by boat or by wing. But it is known that they appeared in South America about 1880, and were found nesting in Florida in 1952. Since then, they have spread throughout North America.

Lady ump: yea or nay?

A woman's place is in the home, not behind the plate or in the locker room.

That's what Houston Astros pitcher Bob Knepper thinks, anyway. During spring training he said women should not be umpires and women sportswriters should not be allowed in locker rooms.

Knepper thinks there are other jobs a woman shouldn't hold, either, including president of the United States and police chief.

I don't know. I think Nancy Reagan is doing a creditable job of running the country, or maybe her astrologer deserves the credit.

Feminists, of course, have been calling for Knepper's scalp ever since, reacting to his suggestions with a few suggestions of their own, some of which are not printable in a family newspaper.

Where do they learn those words anyway? In a locker room?

Probably not. Most of them probably think ERA stands for Equal Rights Amendment instead of Earned Run Average.

I decided to take an informal poll around the newsroom to see where the Press-Record's news-hounds stand on this matter.

We're all baseball fans here, you know. We have to be, since we have all this spare time on our hands.

It's widely known that it only takes a few hours to put together a paper. Add a few more hours spent on the phone explaining how we were "just too busy" to cover this, that or the other thing, and you have an actual work week of only about 14 hours.

We spend whole afternoons tuning in on cleverly concealed satellite dishes to various major and minor-league games. (Since we're all members in good standing of the liberal-left press, our favorite minor-league team is the Rhode Island Reds, natch.) So drop by some time and talk baseball with us. Bring beer and hot dogs.

I went straight to the top, to Executive Editor Jack Ventimiglia, who was sitting there with his feet up, watching for the 237th time the four-second clip of his "interview" with Channel 2 news on the Jason Robertson matter.

Knepper, a fundamentalist Christian, bases his opinion on the Bible. Ventimiglia, a fundamentalist libertine, apparently bases his on the Kama Sutra.

"I don't think you should mix sex and baseball," he said. (Jack always finds a way to bring the conversation around to sex.)

He stopped brooding about his future in television long enough to add, "I think they should give at least one woman a tryout in the majors. She should replace Don Denkinger."

Our august copychief, Bill Winter, noted sagely that a woman could probably "do a better job than Dave Pallone." Yeah, Bill, but so could Ray Charles.

Reporter Val Evenden said she thinks women are capable and should be allowed to umpire and went back to filing her nails. Typesetter Noreen Mueller was making yet another personal phone call and said she didn't have time for such nonsense.

Assistant Copychief Georgeann McGee turned from her video display terminal and said, "Thirty years ago they would have said I shouldn't be sitting in front of this screen."

Heck, Georgeann, somebody said that just last week.

That unregenerate sexist, Reporter Mike Myers, said women should be allowed to be umpires "only if they wear skirts."

Hmmm... Would "You got knobby knees!" replace "You're blind!" as the insult of choice?

Cahokia-Dupo Reporter Gary King wanted to know "Will the fine be more severe if you spit tobacco juice on them?"

Possibly, Gare. And I bet you'd see less scratching, too.

So what do I think? I think women should be allowed to umpire, but not for the reason Ventimiglia just suggested: "If you only have male umpires and you don't have female umpires, how are you gonna get baby umpires?"

He's such a quotable guy, if warped.

No, I want to see women umpires for one reason and one reason only. I want to see a lady ump punch out Billy Martin lights when he kicks dirt on her.

you can bank on it!

BART SOLON
President

Q. I read the statement, possibly in your column, a person should select his banker as carefully as he selects his doctor or attorney. Does this mean in terms of personal characteristics, or in terms of "shopping" for services?

A. Both. Your doctor, your lawyer and your banker need to become familiar with your financial affairs if he is to act professionally in your behalf, and to assist with your financial problems and transactions. Therefore, the first thing you might be interested in, as far as a bank is concerned, is the interest that institution takes in you as an individual, and the comfort you feel with a particular bank and its people as your business partners. Your banker can also make a vast difference in the amount of money you accumulate. Also, consider these other factors: The way a particular bank computes interest on savings, for example, can be more important than actual interest rates. You should, ultimately, be as comfortable with your financial advisor as you are with your medical and legal advisors.

THE SECRET OF GETTING THINGS DONE

There is a very old saying that, "The road to hell is paved with good intentions." And like most old sayings, there is more than a grain of truth to it.

How many times in your life have you intended to accomplish some grand scheme, but never got around to it?

If you're like me, the number runs into the hundreds.

But did you ever sit down and analyze just why you failed to reach your goal? Nine times out of ten, it is because you just didn't have the time.

Work came first, or your spouse or children needed something or a household chore, that had to be done, popped up, and you just couldn't find the time to sit down to do your project.

A very wise piano teacher once asked his young student how many hours a day he practiced his piano. When the answer came back three or four hours, he next asked if the student practiced in long stretches and when the answer came back an hour at a time, he exclaimed, "You're doing it wrong!"

When you grow up in time won't come in long stretches. Practice in minutes.

Practice in minutes and you can find them, five or ten before school, after lunch, between chores.

Spread the practice throughout the day and piano playing will become a part of your life.

In that one sentence, the piano teacher set forth a formula for accomplishment. Don't try to find time to complete your total project at once. The time just won't be there, and the project will never be started. Instead, take what small periods of time you can throughout the day.

But there is an important trick in this time-using formula, you must get into your work quickly. If you intend to write "The Great American Novel," and you only have five minutes stretches in which to write, if you spend four of those minutes chewing on your pencil and planning what to say, your task becomes impossible. But if you make your mental preparations before hand and are ready to devote the entire five minutes to writing, you will find that even those short periods of time will add up to the hours you need to complete your novel.

Plaques slated at SIUE

Members of the Sculptors At Wagner (SAW) organization, a group of students from the department of art and design of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, have created and cast bronze markers to be placed on 10 historic landmarks in Edwardsville.

The circular plaques, which weigh about five pounds each and were commissioned by the Historic Preservation Commission of Edwardsville, were created by graduate student Jeff Arnold and SAW President Paul Caban III, a senior art student.

"Jeff was contacted through the University Museum, which had been originally contacted by the commission," Caban said. "He did the clay model for the plaque and from that I cast the bronze and did the lettering."

The plaque depicts the Madison County Centennial Monument located in the park behind the Edwardsville Public Library.

The monument was recently adorned with one of the plaques during a commission ceremony, and nine others were also placed on or about the following historic landmarks: LeClaire Historic District, bounded by the railroad tracks crossing Troy Road, and Wolf, Hadley and Madison streets; Berlema House, 115 S. Main St.; Benjamin Stephenson House, 409 S. Buchanan St.; American Woman's League Chapter House, 515 W. High St.; St. Louis Street Historic District, between 603 and 1306 St. Louis St.; John Weir Home, 715 N. Main St., which houses the Madison County Historical Museum; Wilkey Theater, 232 N. Main St.; Columbus School, 315 North Kansas St.; and Mater Funeal Home, formerly the Frickett House at 210 N. Kansas St.

Togetherness still essential

A lot of "sound and fury" is being heard these days in our bi-state area, much of it divisive. But it should be kept in perspective because we are and will remain part of the region surrounding St. Louis.

St. Louis County Supervisor Gene McNary, widely viewed as not holding Illinoisans in high regard, called a press conference Tuesday to denounce the "light rail" line that would run from East St. Louis to downtown St. Louis and Lambert Airport. Connecting routes later would enable still more people to ride the trains, avoiding (and decreasing) highway congestion.

McNary said Metro Link is basically a "pork barrel" project to lure federal tax funds back to this region. He said he doesn't think it would attract enough riders or money to stay afloat without large deficits and subsidies.

The following point may not be part of McNary's thinking, but it is interesting to note that the light rail project has become more controversial since it became clear the Bi-State Development Agency would design, build and operate it. There had been public talk of the St. Louis mayor and the St. Clair County Board chairman approving it, but they've changed their minds.

Again, it may have nothing to do with McNary's attitude, but the long history of Bi-State is that elected officials haven't fully trusted it. The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council was formed partly because governments did not want Bi-State to be the agency considering their requests for federal grants. Venice once fought Bi-State for the right to buy the McKinley Bridge. There have been other instances when elected leaders said they wanted to "do their own thing" rather than bow to the Bi-State board (five Missourians and five Illinoisans).

All of which brings to mind the stand by Bill Haine, Madison County Transit District chairman, who said he may seek to remove this county from Bi-State. He is critical of both McNary and light rail.

We respect Haine but believe there should be caution. Since he hopes to be elected state's attorney and leave the transit position, perhaps he ought to leave such a decision to others. Withdrawal from Bi-State could prove costly to both Madison County and its county transit district.

McNary says his disputes with the St. Louis mayor and "city and downtown interests" aren't a matter of "personalities." But long after he and others have been succeeded by new personalities, area counties will need to try to resolve transportation and other regional problems. Created by the two states and Congress, it has played a helpful role in transit and port progress as well as such lesser tasks as operating the passenger system inside the Gateway Arch.

The agency was difficult enough to create, and it shouldn't just be discarded. Bi-State is needed, now and in the future. We're not ready to see it killed off just because it isn't perfect.

Thanks a trillion, Congress

Metro East residents who knew the late U.S. Sen. Everett Dirksen recall his joking comment about federal spending: "When you talk about a couple of billion dollars here and a couple of billion there, it isn't long before you're talking about big money."

Do not cut education first

The last place cuts should be made in a school district is in programs providing education, but that's where the District 9 Board of Education decided to save money this summer.

Some 180 elementary school students and their working parents who might have benefited from the summer school program are being deprived of that opportunity. At a savings to the district of $14,000, a cost that may have been picked up by the state. Therefore, the district may have saved the sum total of zero.

The savings would be laudable if cuts could be made nowhere else. But there are other places to save money that should come ahead of classroom programs.

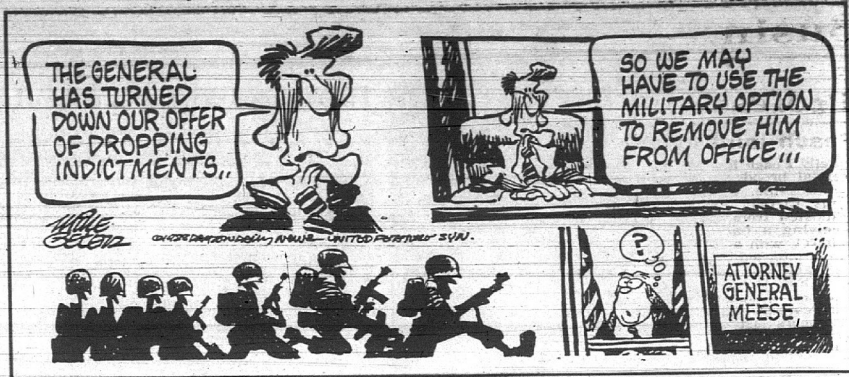

If the board wanted to save money, it should have said so when it was willing to pay an amount that would have exceeded $36,000 annually to unconstitutionally segregate Jason Robertson, a 7-year-old student with AIDS-related complex — a little more than a third of that amount would have aided 180 potential summer school students; Also running contrary to any appearance of the board being thrifty is that it spent more than $5,700 in attorneys' fees to defend its obviously wrongful segregation of Jason Robertson, though the board was made familiar by the newspaper and other sources in advance of the court case that there was no chance of winning the suit.

And if still another example of where money could be saved is needed by the district, it should look at cutting back the assistants' workload at the high school from 12 months to 10 months at a savings of more than $6,000.

Educating students should be the district's first priority in word and deed. And though the summer school program may not have produced great educational results, whenever the district can take 180 kids off the street and into a school, it should.

With its attempt to trim fat from the district's budget, the board has managed to slice off some of the meat.

Letters

SIUE president seeking higher taxes for schools

To the editor:

Renowned economist and author Lester Thurow, speaking at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville as part of the university's Arts and Issues series, was asked to comment about regional disparities in the American economy.

Thurow observed: "If Illinois has a super high-quality workforce, then Illinois is going to get its share of jobs. If the workforce in Illinois is not competitive with the rest of the United States, Illinois is not going to get its share of jobs. That's what the Japanese teach us. No raw materials; 12,000 miles away from the nearest market; nothing. No energy, what have they got? The only thing they have is a very bright, hardworking workforce. But that's all you need. If you've got that, you can make it."

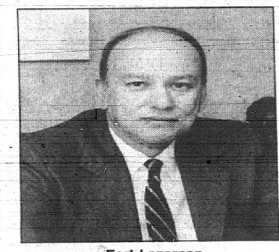

Economic development in Illinois, as we approach the end of the 20th century, depends more on brains than on brawn. Education, at all levels, is the key to providing the kinds of skilled workers who will fuel Illinois' economic engine as we move to the next century. Illinois cannot hope to compete in the national or international marketplace unless we face the reality of our current crisis in educational funding and make an immediate commitment to shoring up the education of the citizens of this state.

Illinois can well afford to provide adequate support for higher education for it ranks ninth among the 50 states in per capita income. But Illinois is not providing adequate support. It ranks a dismal 42nd in per capita expenditures for higher education.

Other facts are equally alarming. Illinois spends a smaller share of its budget on education today than it did a decade ago. Last year, while most states were increasing spending for higher education, Illinois actually cut its higher education budget by 4 percent. This year, Illinois ranks 47th in new support for universities and colleges. Only Alaska, Louisiana and North Dakota did worse. In the past 16 years, the proportion of Illinois' tax dollars allocated to higher education has declined from 15 percent in 1971 to 12.2 percent this year.

How does this affect SIUE — its students, faculty, staff, alumni, and those who live in the communities served by the university?

The citizens of Southwestern Illinois pursued the establishment of SIUE to enhance the educational opportunities and quality of life in the region. It will be a major setback if the university's hard-won achievements are compromised by a sustained period of budgetary constraint. Reductions in state appropriations for the current year curtailed planned academic program improvements, forced postponement of instructional equipment purchases, eliminated salary increases for faculty and staff, and deferred repair and maintenance projects.

Earl Lazerson
Favors higher taxes

If there is no increase in appropriated funds next year, the effects will be even more devastating. In addition to lack of support for academic programs designed to improve undergraduate education and to maintain SIUE's leadership in such fields as engineering and business, the university will be unable to provide salary increases for a second consecutive year, with the attendant consequence of losing experienced faculty and staff to institutions in other states.

This continuing loss of outstanding faculty will not only affect the quality of SIUE's educational programs, but will decrease the ability of the university to meet its research and public service commitments to the people of this region.

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is joining public universities throughout the state in support of a modest increase in the state income tax for the support of educational institutions. We have been joined by many other groups of citizens: the League of Women Voters and the Chicago Urban League have formed the Coalition for Adequate Revenue for Illinois, a 75-organization coalition that will lobby the Illinois General Assembly for a tax increase this year. The Illinois Federation of Teachers has expressed overwhelming support for a 1-percent increase in the state income tax to help education — an "other vital services." Presidents of university alumni associations have been stamping the state, voicing their support.

Now is the time for the citizens of Illinois to let the members of our General Assembly know that we support an increase in the state income tax to help the support of education at all levels in Illinois. Our help will keep the doors of quality educational opportunities open for the students of Illinois and ensure the economic future of the state. We cannot afford to do less.

Untruthfulness unacceptable

We at the Press-Record maintain a high degree of journalistic integrity, but admit to being human and to making occasional errors. What a shock.

We pride ourselves on accuracy. We hate making mistakes, but willingly correct them. At a recent meeting of the Rotary Club, District 9 Superintendent Gib Walmsley said our Page One story last Thursday about a German student who was not allowed to graduate was "untruthful." Ouch. Gib said, "Unfortunately, we didn't know about the 'untruth' until Tuesday because Gib complained about it to everyone but us."

The essential facts in the story were true — the boy could not graduate with the class and though he regretted the fact, he harbored no ill feelings.

Gib said Wednesday the story implied the youth could graduate somewhere else when in fact he hadn't done the coursework necessary to graduate in Granite City or in Germany.

Our story didn't say the boy deserved to graduate, and what the story implied is speculation. But consider the article states he did not expect to get a diploma, that he simply wanted to go through the motions with the graduates who were his friends, and that he had more classes to take.

We took no position for or against having the boy being in the ceremony (in fact, we didn't believe he should be).

Our mistake, Gib explained, was that "we" said foreign students cannot graduate in Granite City. We did print that — a direct quote from the high school principal, Ken Spalding. This is what we think Ken said (he disputes it) and what appeared in print:

"The district has a long-standing policy that foreign exchange students do not participate in graduation. The people that walk across our stage and receive a diploma are those who have earned one here."

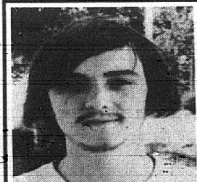

Based on the quote, it is hard to understand how the newspaper — without access to Karnac the Magnificent — could determine Spalding meant foreign students who meet requirements can graduate here.

Though accused of inaccuracy, we believe we were fair and accurate within the realm of the information provided.

Does city need law to control vicious dogs?

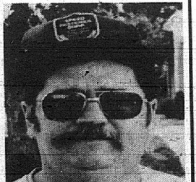

With continued concern about attacks by vicious dogs and reports of these types of dogs running loose in the city, it is time for the Granite City Council to consider an ordinance placing severe restrictions on "vicious" breed dogs, in addition to the animal control laws already in effect?

Mark Jones, Granite City
"Specific breeds, like pit bulls and Dobermans, that are known to attack, should be registered. I think they should be controlled by their owners. Current laws should be enforced, and dogs, in general, should be controlled."

Ruby Shrader, Granite City
"Very possibly we have strong enough laws on the books, but they're not being enforced. I'm certainly for getting dangerous dogs off the streets and getting the regular dogs better controlled."

Edgar Butts, Granite City
"Dogs are not inherently vicious. They're made vicious by man's training. I don't like the breed idea. You cannot damn an entire breed of dog. It's the owners."

Nestle opens lunchroom

GRANITE CITY — Spending more than a million dollars on a factory addition that has no direct effect upon production represents a real commitment to the community, according to Blair Gensamer, Nestle Foods Group vice president for tea and coffee.

Mayor Von Dee Cruise said almost the same thing as he and Gensamer cut the ribbon to the new lunchroom and office addition at Nestle's Granite City plant, 2101 Adams St., on May 26.

The addition was completed in under six months by Leo Wolf Construction Co., Granite City.

The employees on all three shifts celebrated the grand opening with barbecue and pot-luck side dishes. The new dining facility is about three times the size of the small lunchroom it replaces. One of its main features is air conditioning, a major complaint in the old one.

Gensamer said that all of the Nestle in the entire world comes from Granite City and that the Granite City employees should take special pride in that fact. He said Nestle's long connection with the city had proved it was a connection worth maintaining.

Along with Nestle, Gensamer said, Granite City also provided the world with its greatest bar-

About real estate

By Don Campbell

Real estate investors need special skills

Dear Mr. Campbell:

I read your articles and file them every week as I intend to become an investor in single-family residential real estate with great expectations of moving up quickly into doubles and four-family units. My background includes 12 years of remodeling carpentry experience, remodeling sales and remodeling business ownership.

I know the local residential market very well in terms of schools, best locations, property values, etc. I am currently enrolling in evening classes for real estate — law, finance and appraisal.

As an investor, does it make sense to hire a broker to find the foreclosures, distressed sellers, etc., that would allow me to purchase properties for no less than 10 percent to 15 percent below market value, or would these brokers jump on these opportunities themselves? Could I arrange a flat fee rather than a percentage and, if so, what would the normal fee be?

What is your recommendation, if not using a buyer's broker, for locating "distressed sellers?" And how valuable are the listings of delinquent property taxes, foreclosures, divorces, etc., in our local legal newspaper?

L.G.

Answer: I can see that no one has ever accused you of being the impetuous type — flying off, half-cocked, into any new venture that comes along.

I really can't think of a more perfect background than you have for going into residential real estate investment. You have exactly the sort of training that 99 out of 100 people entering the field don't have, and which makes most of them to failure. However, this is a vast and complicated field and we can only touch a couple of bases.

How badly do you need a broker? Opinions vary, but I don't think I would try what you want to do without one. Despite some handicaps in tracking down properties for you as a buyer's broker where he wouldn't find himself in conflict with his responsibilities to the sellers that he also represents — he's in a much better position than you to nose out real distressed sellers. He is better connected with title insurance and trust companies, which are prime holders of lists of properties in default or foreclosure.

A flat fee is, indeed, preferable to a percentage commission, but the field is so varied — and is so entirely negotiable — that there is no "normal" fee. Yes, legal newspapers are valuable in giving you leads to distressed properties, but the principal disadvantage here is that properties are listed by their legal description, and you can have the devil's own time tracking these down to a specific address on a specific street.

There's an excellent book available that answers virtually all of your questions, and many, many more, and should be available through your local library. Look up Robert Brown's "How to Find and Buy Distressed Bargains" (McGraw-Hill Book Co., $17.95). And, having pointed out how to find the bargains, Irwin meticulously points out the procedures (and pitfalls) in actually getting them.

Norfolk Southern Corp.
1st quarter rail traffic up

Norfolk Southern Corp. has reported net income of $118.5 million, or 64 cents per common share, for the first quarter of 1988. This compares with net income of $124.8 million, or 66 cents per common share, in the first quarter of 1987, which included an after-tax gain of $32.8 million from the sale of Piedmont stock.

"Our performance in the first quarter was very good. If the Piedmont gain is excluded, our earnings were up nearly 28 percent," said Arnold B. McArthur, president and chief executive officer. "Traffic was strong, and we are benefiting from cost reductions achieved in last year's voluntary employee reduction programs."

Transportation operating revenues for the first quarter were $1.03 billion, up 5.5 percent, while operating expenses were down 7 percent. Coal revenues were up 9.5 percent and merchandise up 4 percent.

Several merchandise markets recorded substantial revenue gains: metals up 43 percent, agricultural up 12 percent, chemicals up 7 percent and intermodal up 5 percent. Automotive revenues were down 5 percent. Motor carrier revenues increased 5.3 percent.

McDonnell Douglas Corp. shut out of largest-ever commercial plane order

McDonnell Douglas Corp. was shut out of the largest-ever order of commercial airplanes in late May. Boeing Co. and Airbus Industrie won the $5 billion order for 130 jets.

"We made them a good offer," said Jack Cooke, McDonnell public relations director.

Local financial analysts had said winning a portion of the order would strengthen McDonnell's commercial aircraft line and would improve profits.

McDonnell had offered International Lease Finance Corp. an assortment of MD-80, MD-90 short-to-medium haul jets and MD-11 wide bodies. The aircraft are built at the Douglas plant in Long Beach, Calif.

Boeing will build 100 planes, including 72 from the 737 family, for International Lease Finance Corp., which in turn will lease the jets to airlines worldwide. Beverly Hills-based International Lease announced the purchase of McDonnell's arch rival Airbus will build 30 planes. The European aircraft manufacturer is a consortium of European aerospace companies.

McDonnell has firm orders for 34 MD-11s, the successor to the DC-10 wide body.

Cancer, tanning bed connection discussed

By Neil F. Hartigan
Illinois Attorney General

Q. I read where those tanning beds will not damage your skin or cause skin cancer. I thought they were as dangerous as the sun. How can they say that?

A. Several months ago the Federal Trade Commission charged a major marketer of artificial tanning devices with falsely claiming that its products did not pose the risk of skin aging or skin damage, including the risk of skin cancer.

The tanning devices used large, high-intensity ultraviolet radiation to cause tanning of the user's skin.

It is important to understand that sunlamps are designed to produce mostly either ultraviolet A (UVA) or ultraviolet B (UVB) radiation with the proportion of each type emitted being different from the sun's rays.

Almost all tanning devices produce both types of radiation and present risks such as premature aging, skin cancer, burns and photosensitivity. If you are considering tanning with one of these devices, you should seriously consider the consequences and perhaps discuss the use with your personal physician.

Credit cards

Q. Could you give me some tips on choosing a credit card?

A. Consumers primarily use credit cards for personal, family, or household purposes. Generally, the credit card companies — banks, gasoline companies, and department stores — offer their cards on the basis of "open-end credit."

In open-end credit, the creditor expects the customer to make repeated purchases; pay a periodic finance charge on the unpaid balance; and pay the outstanding balance, which is usually made available to the consumer again.

When selecting a credit card, you should remember the following:

1. Department stores and gasoline companies are good places to obtain your first credit card.

2. Credit card fees and finance charges vary considerably, so shop around. The average finance charge on bank cards in 1985 was 18.5 percent.

3. If you want to pay your bills in monthly installments, look for a card with a low monthly finance charge.

4. If you pay your bill in full, select a card with an interest-free grace period — that is, the time after a purchase is made and before a finance charge is imposed. A typical grace period runs 25-30 days.

Travel and entertainment cards often charge higher annual fees than most credit cards. Payment usually must be made in full, within 30 days of receiving your bill or, typically, no further purchase will be approved on the account.

Pool builders

Q. We are thinking of putting a swimming pool in our backyard this summer. Could you give us some tips?

A. Here are some warning signs that mean buyer beware:

1. Salesperson who tell you an advertised pool they offer "on sale" is not worth having and then try to switch you to more expensive models.

2. Salesperson who pressure you into signing a contract. Remember, no reputable builder or authorized representative of a reputable builder will rush you into signing an agreement contract.

County-city feud hampers region

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

Memorial Day riverboat rivalry continued on a relatively friendly basis this week, with the Becky Thatcher commanded by St. Louis Mayor Vince Schoemehl defeating the Tom Sawyer captained by St. Louis County Executive Gene McNary.

But they are still voicing harsh words about each other from time to time.

Shouldn't the regional feud — sparked by pro football stadium site competition — end now that the team has departed?

No, Schoemehl said May 25 at the annual meeting of Confluence St. Louis. He blames "personalities" but McNary says that isn't the problem.

THE MAYOR acknowledged he has differences of opinion on a variety of issues with McNary. The differences eventually will be resolved, in one fashion or another, he predicted.

But in the meantime the two will have to continue to cope with what he views as a frustrating situation, Schoemehl said.

citizen group that studies and makes recommendations on regional issues.

McNary is being assailed as anti-Illinois by Madison County Transit System Chairman William Haine, the Democratic nominee for state's attorney in the Nov. 3 election. But a growing number of people also regard McNary as anti-downtown St. Louis.

McNary not only opposes construction of a 70,000-seat stadium in the downtown area but also has concerns about a proposed new downtown arena of 17,000 capacity.

TO UNDERSTAND the county executive's stance, some say, it is necessary to note the large size of St. Louis County.

Instead of former St. Louis-Clayton domination of the metropolitan area, McNary may be seeking to push the county's "center of gravity" to the west, as illustrated by the idea of a stadium near the Missouri River.

Whether or not it is an orchestrated effort, there has been a tendency to build new residential areas farther and farther to the west, with commuters enduring longer and longer "sunlight in our eyes" trips to and from downtown in morning and afternoon rush hours, rather than shorter "sun at our back" journeys from an antihillbilly.

THE POPULATION concentration surrounding the Gateway Arch is becoming lopsided, instead of circular.

And west-east connecting links are experiencing mixed fortunes. Acquisition of the Martin Luther King Bridge by the two states ended its tolls, making possible the current 13-month renovation project. And it will be linked fully with the Interstate highway system easing congestion on the Poplar Street Bridge.

These are positive developments.

BUT METRO LINK rapid transit "light rail" planning has been running into opposition from both sides of the Mississippi River.

And McNary is urging bigger bus fare increases than are now under consideration, saying the Bi-State Development Agency is relying too heavily on St. Louis County for bus subsidies.

Along with the importance of bridges, bus and rail routes are regarded as vital to assuring adequate access throughout the two-state region.

If buses become too expensive or too scarce, it would impede easy regional travel.

McNARY IS AWARE that many think he is sabotaging regional cooperation and progress.

He sent a letter May 20 to several hundred elective and civic leaders, including Missouri legislators and county mayors, accusing Schoemehl of blocking a downtown stadium.

The mayor had said the previous day that a new stadium is virtually impossible because of conditions McNary has attached to its construction, including half-ownership of Lambert Airport by the county.

McNARY CHARGED "city and downtown interests" are moving the metropolitan area in a counterproductive direction, adding, "I find it amazing that the same mayor who drove the football Cardinals to Phoenix can continue to undermine our efforts to move our community into the next century."

A publicly-financed stadium or arena linked to Cervantes Convention Center expansion would require active support by the city, county and state.

McNary said in the letter that he would not use county tax money for a project that could accommodate only 10 football games yearly and a few conventions.

He warned that a smaller building, including one that may be built privately by the St. Louis ice hockey Blues, could "remove revenue-producing events such as hockey, concerts, basketball and soccer from a domed stadium and make it unworkable."

FUDGING, FUSING and fighting can be dangerous, U.S. Sen. Jack Danforth, like McNary a Missouri Republican, said May 27.

Democrat Schoemehl has joined Danforth in backing Metro Link, but many officials have not.

Danforth is worried that bickering among regional officials could torpedo the light rail system and make other improvement proposals difficult to accomplish.

"YOU CAN'T 'cry wolf' around Washington, D.C. very often and get away with it," Danforth said. "You can't say you want a project, secure $150 million for it, and then say you just had your fingers crossed about it."

"Vacillation of area governments about light rail is establishing their reputation — that they cannot implement large and complex public works projects."

Danforth said he fears this region's "loss of credibility" will harm light rail, federal highway and bridge projects, airport funding and pollution control.

FEET FIRST

ALL WALKS OF LIFE
By Dr. Claude Hiles

One controversy between walkers and joggers stems from the idea that one form of exercise is more beneficial than the other. However, doctors have found that runners and walkers each lower their overall cholesterol levels by equal amounts as long as they covered the same distance. The exercisers also increased the proportion of high-density lipoprotein (HDL, the good "cholesterol") in their bloodstreams. The key to improving health through walking/running is covering at least twelve miles per week, regardless of how fast.

Healthy feet are essential for walking, jogging, or any exercise program. Preventive care includes regular podiatric exams and wearing footwear especially designed for the activity. Contact my office, located at 1930 State St., for professional and personalized family foot care. Pullled tendons, sprains, fractures, and dislocations are treated. Illinoisans advised to take precautions against ticks

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois Department of Public Health Director Bernard J. Turnock has warned Illinoisans to take precautions against tick bites.

"With the beginning of the outdoor season, it's important for people to take steps to protect themselves from serious disease that can be transmitted by ticks," Dr. Turnock said.

The year's first case of Rocky Mountain spotted fever was reported May 24 when a Wayne County resident was hospitalized following numerous tick bites sustained in a wooded area near her home.

Rocky Mountain spotted fever is a serious disease, transmitted to people by ticks that have fed on infected wild animals. Between 20 and 40 cases of the disease, with two or three deaths, occur each year in Illinois.

Symptoms of Rocky Mountain spotted fever generally develop three to 14 days after the bite of an infected tick. They include the sudden onset of fever, muscle aches, headache and eye irritation. A red, spotty rash usually develops on the hands, feet, arms and legs about three days after the first symptoms appear.

Prompt medical attention is essential, and it is important that the physician be informed of any recent tick bites. Certain antibiotics are effective in treating Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

Persons who live in or plan to spend time in wooded or grassy areas, Turnock said, should take the following precautions:

Wear long-sleeved clothing, long trousers, sturdy shoes or boots and a head covering. Use liberal amounts of tick repellent. (Most insect repellents available in stores are effective against ticks — check the labels.)

Check your body every three or four hours, and remove ticks promptly. Ticks usually do not transmit disease until several hours after they have attached. Remove ticks with a pair of tweezers or with a piece of paper held between the fingers, by gently flipping the tick on its back, using its head as a fulcrum. In an effort to right itself, the tick will withdraw. A similar method should be used when removing ticks from pets.

Do not squash the tick. If it is infected, squashing it could release disease organisms into the air around you. Flush the tick down the toilet, dispose of it in a nearby stream, or burn it in the campfire.

Cleanse the tick wound with abundant amounts of soap and water, and then apply an antiseptic.

Opinions On The Movies By Harry Hamm And Frank Hunter

'Jack's Back' revives Ripper, then falls flat

Hamm

It's just what we need, another slasher movie. Only this time we get a twisted, forced story line that gives the audience the answers to the big mystery long before the action does.

No hum. That's the verdict on "Jack's Back" (2½ stars) (Jack the Ripper, that is) a movie with a basic plot based on material that holds that the Ripper's most famous killings are being duplicated on the 100th anniversary of each slaying. Even the methods of the deaths are scrupulously re-created. And prostitutes are still the favorite targets, except in one scene early in the film when it is postulated that the next victim will be a pregnant woman at home.

So much for the family movie crowd's appeal at "Jack's Back." James Spader ("Baby Boom," "Wall Street") stars in dual roles as twins, one good, one bad, of course. "Jack's Back" goes for broke as a psychological thriller. But the film, directed by first-time Rowdy Herrington, has too many of the faults that often befall a fledgling director: disjointed action, lack of continuity and obvious, heavy-handed clues as to what is really going to occur.

There are a spate of films that exhibitors and distributors know have problems ("Jack's Back," "Call Me," "Salsa," "Riders of the Storm," "Siesta," "World Gone Wild") and therefore, limited audience appeal. "Jack's Back" is one of those motion pictures. But it fills a need as a "filler film" this time of year until summer titles like "Rambo III," "Crocodile Dundee II" and other biggies are ready to officially start the summer movie season. But by all rights, every admission to films like "Jack's Back" should be at reduced admission prices because they are not, in the real sense of the term, first-run films.

Thus, my recommendation on the R-rated "Jack's Back" is simple. Cut it out of your movie-going plans.

JACK'S BACK

Thriller with James Spader (the villain in "Pretty in Pink") plays a twin seeking the identity of his brother's killer and winds up confronting a latter-day Jack the Ripper.

Rated R (violence).

Hunter

He has the beatific countenance of a St. Paul's choirboy but the roles 27-year-old actor James Spader has played thus far would make the saints stir in their niches.

He was a malevolent department store exec in "Mannequin" and a manipulative teen-ager who tried to sabotage Andrew McCarthy's romance with Molly Ringwald in "Pretty in Pink"; a slippery ad and drug pusher working the streets of Beverly Hills in "Less Than Zero"; a slimy corporate lawyer in "Wall Street."

Now the nice and sleazy Spader in "Jack's Back" (2½ stars) takes a new tack, playing twins — murdered medical student John Westford and John's brother, Rick, who sees the killer's contorted face in a dream recounting the violence. The vision drives Rick to clear his late sibling's name despite efforts by the police department to get a quick conviction.

Spader himself isn't bad in the dual roles, but Rowdy Herrington's complex scenario about a latter-day Jack the Ripper who skulks around disambiguating prostitutes has more holes in it than a golf course.

Spader's co-star, Cynthia Gibb, is the dead brother's close friend who helps the distraught Rick and becomes a potential victim. Robert Picardo plays a police psychologist who hypnotizes Rick and summons up more bad dreams to get at the truth, and Rod Loomis heads the medical clinic.

The film ultimately runs out of gas, aided by the customary nick-of-time police squad car arrivals during a vicious confrontation between Rick and the ripper busily engaged in yet another vile attack.

Dreary and predictable melodramatic tripe all the way.

'Friends of fair' package to benefit area charities

By Lucyann Boston
Staff affiliate

The lack of a main stage and the glitzy entertainment usually associated with the VP Fair will not leave area charities without a fundraising vehicle during this year's celebration, June 2 to 4.

Instead of staging benefits that revolve around VIP seating for shows by stars such as John Denver, Liza Minnelli and Dionne Warwick, charities that have reaped a $1.5 million reward over the years now can offer their patrons a $100 per person "Friends of the Fair" package.

Included in the price of each tax-deductible $100 ticket is a gala preview party July 4 at the Adam's Mark Hotel, special seating for the Velled Prophet Parade, special seating for one of the Suburban Journal-sponsored fireworks displays, free admission to a reserved enclosed parking area and ongoing, three-day access to the Robert E. Lee Riverboat/Hospitality Suite. Each $100 ticket includes admission for two children to everything except the gala preview.

To become part of the Friends of the Fair program, the 16 charities who are participating in the package have contributed $2,500 to the VP Fair operating fund. They will be reimbursed through package ticket sales, which will go directly to the individual charities.

The lack of a main stage at the eighth annual fair will protect the grass under The Arch and save the VP Fair organization money that was spent on high-priced, Las Vegas-style acts. More emphasis will be placed on what used to be called satellite stages. This year they will be termed "super stages."

The caliber of the entertainment on those stages will be greatly upgraded, said fair publicity director Allyn Glaub.

"We'll be bringing in top acts such as the magician, Blackstone, the Nelson Riddle orchestra, Western entertainment stars and dance troupes," he said.

Although fair organizers will be spending more on entertainment for the super stages than they have in the past, it will not be as high a figure as was spent on the main stage, Glaub said.

The VP Fair has lost money in all but two of its seven years. This year's Chairman, Ronald E. Henges, "feels strongly that should be turned around," Glaub added.

Another way VP Fair officials plan to compensate for the lack of main-stage activities is by offering more diverse activities than they have in previous years.

"We'll be concentrating on things the entire family can do together," said protocol Chairman Andy Zinsmeyer.

Teen battles pressure in 'Can't Buy Me Love'

By Nick and Eileen Pacino
Staff affiliates

Popularity at the expense of honesty, values and real caring for other people is the theme of the video release, "Can't Buy Me Love," directed by Steve Hughes' work ("Sixteen Candles").

Rich, but nerdy teen Ronald Miller (Patrick Dempsey, "In the Mood" 1987) longs to be popular with the in-crowd seniors. He strikes a bargain with cheerleader Cindy (Amanda Peterson) after he helps her out of a financial jam, and the bickering couple becomes a hot item at school raising Ron's popularity quotient, but alienating his old friend.

When his new status results in a fat head and snobbish attitude, Ron dumps Cindy, but lives to regret it. Teens should see through this setup, but will identify with the pressures.

Touchstone Home Video, PG-13 for language, sexual situations and use of alcohol, color, 91 mins., VHS/Beta HiFi, closed captioned.

Screen writer and playwright David Mamet ("The Untouchables" makes his directing debut with the stylish "House of Games," a film about a successful psychiatrist, Margaret Ford (Lindsay Crouse, Mamet's wife), who tries to help a suicidal, compulsive gambler and experiences a disturbing identity transfer. Ford is a writer of self-help books and her latest work necessitates studying a group of poker card sharks led by Mike (Joe Mantegna), who also holds the IOUs to Ford's patient.

Margaret begins a compulsive relationship with Mike, which leads to a scam and an accidental murder. Margaret's repressed neuroses and guilt surface and she realizes that she has been an easy mark, and she seeks revenge. This is an interesting portrait of two masters of mind games with solid performances. HBO, R for violence and language, color, 102 mins., VHS/Beta.

"Dogs in Space" is bursting with colorful characters but begs for a coherent plot. What distinguishes the film is its debut of Michael Hutchence, lead singer for the Australian band INXS. Hutchence is Sam, the lead singer with the rock band, Dogs in Space. He lives a chaotic life, sharing his digs with people who live like dogs and are spaced out constantly. The band's keyboardist, Tim, is a "born-again virgin." Anna, Sam's girl, aspires to stability but dies of an overdose.

These throwbacks to the 1960s party hard, and anyone who lived through that chaotic era will recognize the life-on-the-edge this raucous film thoroughly captures. Key Video, R for language, drug use and sexual situations, color, 110 mins., VHS/Beta, HiFi, stereo.

THE FAMILY OF THE LATE
JOHN EDWARD DOWDY, SR.
Wishes to express their deep appreciation and sincere thanks for the thoughtfulness and love demonstrated to us during this time of our great sorrow.
Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
Or sat quietly in a chair,
Perhaps you sent a floral piece,
If so, we saw it there,
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
As any friend could say,
Perhaps you were not there at all,
Just thought of us that day,
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much, whatever the part.

Price, Tigers top Panthers to take regional crown

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

EDWARDSVILLE — Wet and wild, that's Tom Price. The flamboyant Edwarsville baseball coach is always wild, talking up a storm during the game and then entertaining reporters afterward. The well-known coach Tuesday when Tiger catcher Blake Hilla caught him out near the pitcher's mound with a bucket of icewater and gave him the Bill Parcells treatment.

Such merriment stemmed from the Tigers' 7-1 victory over Jerseyville (19-12) in the Edwarsville Class AA Regional final. The Tigers (28-8) were denied any such fun last year when Granite City knocked them out in the first round. But sophomore left-hander Tom Price wasn't about to let anything stand in Edwarsville's way of a trip to this weekend's Granite City Sectional.

Price allowed only four hits, struck out nine and walked only one in raising his record to 6-1. "He's got tremendous composure for a sophomore," Pile said. "He's like a freshman in college. Nothing bothers him."

Price was unfazed when Alexander Walker singled in the first and scored on Tom Munstermann's two-out single. He allowed only five runners in the last six innings in lowering his earned run average to 2.38.

"Price was the whole story today," said Jerseyville coach Ken Schell. "He might have beaten the Cardinals today."

The Tigers wasted little time in battling back. Hilla singled to start the bottom of the first against Panther starter Mike Smith. Hilla scored on Tony Lockett's double to right. Lockett scored on Adam Lynn's sacrifice fly and that was really all Price needed.

Eric Jennings scored on a Panther error in the third to make it 3-1. Then Price, Jennings and John Bailey had RBI hits in the fourth to break the game open. Another error by first baseman Todd Kuehnelt plated a seventh Tiger run in the sixth.

The Panther's only real chance to get back in the game was in the sixth. They had two on with one out, but Price fanned Ric Rogers and Tim Gohsen to escape.

"We didn't hit well enough to win," said Schell. "We knew Edwarsville would score three or four runs at the end. We didn't pitch badly for us. But we weren't disciplined at the plate like we were against Granite City."

And so it's on to the sectional for the Tigers and Pile, known affectionately in Edwarsville as "Moto."

"We hit the ball well," Pile said. "We killed them in the first inning and they got out of it. Jerseyville has a good team and good kids. It just goes to show you if you're from here, you can win."

Two good matchups at GC Sectional

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Everyone in this area knows about the Edwarsville-East St. Louis matchup in the first game of the Granite City Class AA Sectional this Saturday.

But the second game will also be a hotly-contested matchup of two teams that know each other very well. Carbondale (18-13) and Mt. Vernon (24-7) will look up in Saturday's second game at approximately 1 p.m. The two teams are rivals in the South Seven Conference and split a couple of games this year. The Terriers won 16-6 before the Rams came back for a 5-0 win.

"Carbondale gave us our only conference loss," said Mt. Vernon coach Ferrell Wiman. "We always have good battles with them."

Carbondale advanced to the sectional last year before Belleville East trounced them in the semifinals. But coach Larry Jackson brings a more experienced team back this time.

"We became more confident as the year went on," he said. "The kids have been working hard to attain this."

The Terriers came back from an early 4-0 deficit for a 9-6 win over Harrisburg in the Carbondale regional final on Tuesday. The game was tied at 6-6 when outfielder Dan Jenkins made a sensational catch to rob Harrisburg's Jeff Denbow of a homer in the sixth. Carbondale got three in the seventh to win. Harrisburg had been the top seed in the regional and Carbondale was third.

Carbondale is led on the mound by senior John Jarvis (8-6) and Shannon Cremons (6-2). Jackson's sons Bobby (4-08) and Brent (3-60) are two of the top hitters. Jarvis (.378) and Tristan Farel (.576) are two other top hitters.

"We've hit more home runs this year, but we're not really a power team," he said. "We try to do it all and manufacture runs like the Cardinals do."

Mt. Vernon outlasted top-seeded Highland in the Central Regional final on Tuesday, 14-11. A grand slam by Jay Wheeler was one of the big blows for the Rams. Terence Mays is the team's leading hitter with a .392 average and 30 RBIs.

But pitching has been the strong point. Brent Bertchle is 10-0 with two saves and a 2.62 earned run average. Sophomore Jason Books is 5-0 and junior Chris Morgan is 3-1.

"We've had lots of good pitching performances and had balanced hitting all year," Wiman said. "We have several seniors on our team, so we felt this was our year to really make a run at it and get at least to the sectional."

The Edwarsville-East St. Louis matchup at 10 a.m. Saturday at Varsity Field should be a stand-out. The Flyers (25-7) are led by the strong right arm of Terry Westerfield (9-2, 1.10 ERA), plus lefties Pat Baker (5-2) and Charles Macon (7-2).

Jason Ford is the leading hitter with a .340 average, five homers and 40 RBIs. East St. Louis staged a miracle comeback to win the Belleville West Regional on Monday. They trailed Belleville West 5-1 with two outs in the seventh before Darrell Perry blasted a three-run homer off Jeff Terveer. Tad Smith relieved only to allow singles to Art May Jr., Dave Edwards and Baker to end the game.

Edwarsville (28-8) comes in with a .332 team batting average and a deep pitching staff. Coach Tom Pile said junior right-hander Adam Lynn (8-2, 3.40 ERA) and sophomore lefty Tom Price (6-1, 2.30 ERA) will likely get starting assignments at the sectional.

"But I feel just as confident with (Marc) Tuttle or Dave Jones," Pile said. "We had been doing a lot of work in the batting cages and we're playing well."

The winners of Saturday's games meet at 4 p.m. Monday at Varsity Field for a berth in the state tournament in Springfield on June 9-10.

Legion season opens Saturday

The summer baseball season gets under way in Granite City on Saturday.

As the Class AA sectional is being played at Varsity Field, the Granite City Optimists Junior Legion team will be opening its season with a 3 p.m. double-header at Dal Maxwell Field against Highland.

All other home games will be played at Varsity Field. Optimists manager Paul Kacera and coaches Carl Benson, Marty LeVault and Don Rains return only two players from last year's 22-9 team — pitcher Chris Wichard and outfielder Troy Adams.

Schedules for the junior and senior Legion teams will appear in Sunday's edition. The senior Legion team will open its season on June 13 at Varsity Field against O'Fallon.

Kahoks take 4th in state tourney

By Bill Morton

SKOKIE — Reaching the end of the long road to the state championship for the Collinsville girls soccer team will have to wait.

When the Lady Kahoks suffered a 1-0 loss at the hands of the Naperville (North) Huskies — the eventual state champion — Saturday morning in the semifinals of the first-ever IHSA Girls State Soccer Tournament, all hopes were dashed.

"It would have been nice to get into the championship game and play Maine South again," Collinsville coach Dave Jenkins said. "They (Huskies) didn't have a good finish to any of their rushes except for getting the ball to their number 22 (Jenny Sovacool)."

But it was junior fullback Anna Harton who put the ball behind Collinsville goalie Julie Corrie with 2:43 left in the third quarter for the game's only tally.

On a corner kick, senior fullback Kelli Warren booted the ball in front of the net. But when Corrie met the ball and knocked it away, it landed right on Harton's foot. She made no mistake, booting the ball home and sending the Lady Kahoks into the third-place contest with Palatine High School.

The Kahoks lost 2-1 to take fourth in the state as Kim Thompson scored their only goal in the last five minutes. Naperville North went on to win state by beating Park Ridge Maine South.

"We played better than yesterday (a 4-1 victory over Hinsdale Central in Friday's quarterfinals)," Jenkins said. "Their (Naperville's) fullbacks are great. Just as great as ours."

"They are fast and stayed with us the entire game. I think that turned out to be the difference."

"This is the fastest team that we have played all year. The ball never hit the ground on the goal. That shows how quick they are. They had a lot of shots, but not that many of them were on net."

Naperville finished with 38 shots, with 14 of them on net. The Lady Kahoks could muster just six shots.

"This is a great victory for our team," Jenkins said. "We beat a team that never quit."

"Collinsville has an excellent team. This was the type of game (See SOCCER, Page 3D)

Tribute

A PLAQUE was dedicated Saturday at Paddlers Swim Club commemorating the contributions of Francis McBride. Left to right are McBride's son Rocky, his widow Charlotte, and Donna and Tim McGrath (McBride's stepson). McBride served as president, executive vice president and treasurer of Paddlers Inc. for 25 years until his death in 1985. He was very instrumental in the construction and operation of the pool. Paddlers will be starting another season of competition in the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association this month.

Wallace sweeps at Tri-City

By Joe Senter

Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Mike Wallace made it a clean sweep in the late model stock cars at Tri-City Speedway on Saturday.

Wallace took his heat race and then won the feature event after starting tenth in the lineup. He wasted not time moving to the front. Lou Fritz grabbed the early lead and hung on for the first six laps.

Wallace and John Proir — the winner the past two weeks — came together coming out of the No. 4 turn. Proir was knocked into the dirt barrier and was out for the night. Wallace lapped four cars as he took the checkered flag.

Bill Shaw finished second, Ron Fisher third, Bert Cheatham fourth and Scott Ford fifth. Wallace and Proir took the heat races.

Rick Bayer took the sportsman's cars feature followed by Steve Stevenson and Randy Korte. Tom Seel and Gary Archambault took the heat races. Rick Carter took the street stock car feature followed by Rick Rhoads, Barry Seiler, Rhoads and Dave Jones took the heat races. Ron Taylor won another feature in the super modifieds followed by Don Cruzen, Vince Grondzki and Chris Bargezi. John Thyer and John Hanner Jr. took the heat races.

Bayer won the sportsman's cars race at Godfrey on Friday. Seiler won the street stock race and Mike Fenton won the Bomber cars.

The mini sprint cars will race this Saturday. On June 11 there will be a $3,000-to-win 40-lap late model stock car feature and a $2,000-to-win 40-lap sportsman's car feature.

Nine-run inning brings crushing end to Warriors' season

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

EDWARDSVILLE — Graduation ceremonies on Friday at Memorial Stadium will be the final memory in the minds of more than 500 members of the Granite City High School Class of 1988.

For four seniors — Mike Kraus, John Moad, Chris Hampsey and Craig Dippel — there was one more chapter to their high school life. And it was the events of that chapter, particularly those which occurred from approximately 2:25 to 2:45 p.m. on Saturday, won't stick with those seniors for the rest of their lives.

They will all get over it, but it will take some time. Those four seniors and the rest of their teammates on the Warriors baseball team met an untimely and shocking end to their season with a 10-8 loss to Jerseyville in the Edwarsville Regional semifinals.

"The fact the Warriors lost wasn't all that surprising. They were an erratic team all year that finished 18-19. But the manner in which they lost was excruciating. They scored seven times in the fourth inning and carried a 7-1 lead into the sixth."

Kraus was pitching and a meeting with top-seeded Edwarsville in the regional finals seemed to be approaching.

Moad was to pitch and he had beaten the Tigers earlier in the year. The Warriors were far from a great team, but winning the regional certainly wasn't out of the question.

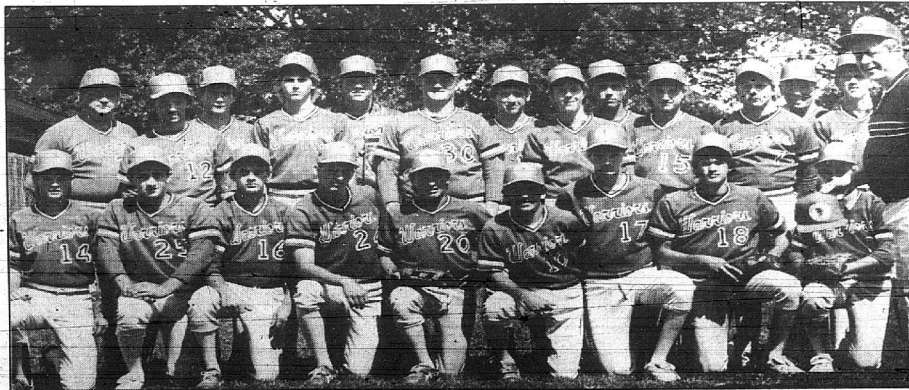

Granite City had one other blown game this year that comes to mind. They carried a 9-4 lead into the seventh at Belleville West when Moad on the mound. A series of bloop hits, errors and one bad call at first base led to a 10-9 defeat.

The problem was much simpler during those apocalyptic 20 minutes on Saturday afternoon. Warrior pitching simply didn't do the job.

Bob Stegemeyer tried everything and almost everyone. It seemed only Jose Oquendo didn't come in to pitch. Catcher Joe Wallace removed the catching gear to relieve Kraus when it was 7-8. Begando walked in a run and served up a bases-loaded triple to Dusty Crotchet and it was 9-7.

Tim Black finally ended the inning, but not before it was 10-7 — a nine-run inning.

Ironically, Chad Lignoul, who hadn't pitched much all year, struck out the side in the seventh. But it was too late then. "Chad threw very well," Stegemeyer said. "But that's how unlikely a team we are. Jerseyville has a good hitting club. I thought our pitching and defense would hurt us, but the defense wasn't that bad. There were a couple of balls that might have been caught, but our pitchers just couldn't do it. We need (See WARRIORS, Page 3D) that it's a shame that someone has to lose."

After a scoreless first half, the Lady Kaboks almost got on the board first when sophomore full-backs Amy Bickford and Jamie Casillas each had close-in shots that were stopped by Huskie senior goalkeeper Christy Munson within seconds of each other.

"They both had good shots," Jenkins said of the chances. "Their goalie was right there to make the saves."

After the Huskies scored the only goal of the game late in the third quarter, they dominated the first 10 minutes of the final quarter.

two runs in and got behind other hitters who hit line drives."

"Granite City usually has a very sound club," said Panther coach Ken Schell. "So if you had told me when it was 7-0 that we would come back, I wouldn't have believed it. But I know they are a young team this year and maybe not as good as they have been."

It was redemption for Schell and the Panthers, who were wiped out by the 10-run rule by the Warriors in the 1987 regionals. Scott LeVault pitched a two-hitter in an 11-1 Granite City win.

"I thought it might happen

But Thompson had the best scoring chance of the final period, moving in on net and shooting just wide with 9:22 left in the game.

"Kim Thompson is one of the best players in the state," Harris said. "She is quick and has a good shot. She just keeps on coming at you."

"We knew that we had to stop her, not let her get going. Our defenders did a great job of keeping her away from the ball."

It was the 16th shutout for Naperville, which at one time had a string of eight straight shutouts this season.

"That's our goal every time we go out on the field," Harris said. "With the schedule that we have had this season, I'm really proud of the kids for recording so many shutouts."

And that last Huskie shutout forced the Lady Kaboks into the third-place game against Palatine.

"We came up here to win the whole thing," Jenkins said. "But it's something to be proud of considering there are 108 teams that made entry into state competition."

"Naperville is ranked as the second-best team in the state. We only get beat 1-0 from a corner kick."

"I would say that we did a good job. They won the unofficial tournament last season. We don't have anything to be ashamed of."

the Midwest and you work hard, good things will happen."

Not quite sure what that means? Neither was anyone else. But the colorful Pile was probably just happy that the shower given to him by Hilla didn't ruin the well-worn batting glove he always wears in the coaching box.

It was the fourth time the Tigers had beaten the Panthers this year.

"We might have been over-spyched today," Schell said. "We were tense early and made errors. But Edwardsville is the best team on our schedule."

again," Schell said of the 7-0 deficit. "We felt like we were embarrassed last year. And we didn't play well early today. But our hitters were very patient and disciplined in the big inning. Their pitchers were getting behind and we were waiting. And we got a lot of 3-1 pitches."

The Warriors were at the .500 mark nine times this year, and fell behind for the final time on Saturday (10-19).

"It's tough for our seniors," Stegemier said. "We needed to win the regional to have a .500 year. But it's kind of poetic that we lose this way. We scored runs all year, but we gave up a lot, too."

Charlie Papp was named the starting pitcher for the Warriors' first game at the state baseball tournament in Peoria. Granite City was to meet Streator in the quarterfinals. Joe Fedora's team carried a 23-8-1 record to state. In the Staunton Sectional title game on May 29, the Warriors scored two runs in the fifth for a 5-4 win over Springfield Griffin. Bob Karandjeff walked and Marty LeVault singled before two errors brought them across the plate. It was Granite City's fourth one-run victory of the post-season.
